Dog license deadline nears

This is the final week that Romulus residents may take advantage of the city's sponsored dog licensing and rabies inoculation clinic. The clinic will be conducted daily between 1 and 5 p.m. at the old DPW Building, Shook and Bibbins Rds.

There is a license fee of $5 for the year for males and females, while the costs are $9 and $13 for two and three years, respectively.

The inoculation shot for a 3-year period will cost $12.

Further information may be obtained by telephoning the Treasurer, Beverly McNally at 941-0666.

Feiler is a 'no show'

Perturbed over a "no show" for a special meeting by attorney Michael Feiler who is handling Romulus litigation with DetRo Recovery, Councilman Jimmie Raspberry criticized the City Attorney and the administration for not informing the council "that Mr. Feiler was not going to appear before us".

Raspberry said that members of council were informed that Feiler wouldn't appear, therefore the special meeting was not going to be held.

"The meeting was legally called and we had an obligation to show up and adjourn it," Raspberry said. "It can not be called off in that manner."

Mayor William Oakley said that Feiler was not able to meet his commitment because he was suddenly called out of town.

Lambert's side of Post Office

Councilman Alan Lambert said he has come under criticism because of his stand on the proposed Post Office. He said the residents have misunderstood a statement that appeared in the local newspaper.

"I am not opposed to the Post Office facility being built here," Lambert said, "but I am opposed to the site proposed because it will be on the other side of the rail track and therefore potentially dangerous and not accessible. The building should go up right in the center of the business community."

Ex-Van Buren police official named

Judge Callanan indicted

By SUE McDONALD
ANP News Editor

Arraignments are expected sometime this week for a Westland judge, his son and two other men, who were indicted last week by a federal grand jury for violation of the Federal Racketeer Influenced and Corrupt Organizations (RICO) Statute.

Charge in a scheme to "fix" criminal matters in Westland's 18th District Court in return for money were Evan Callanan Sr., who had just begun his second six-year term as district judge, his son, Evan Callanan Jr. of Canton Township, Richard Debs of Westland, president of UAW Local 1776 and former Van Buren Township police commander and Dearborn businessman Sam Qaoud.

Callanan Sr. was indicted on one count of conspiracy, one count of aiding and abetting, and three counts of mail fraud under the RICO statute.

Callanan Jr., an attorney, was indicted on one count of conspiracy, three counts of mail fraud, aiding and abetting, obstruction of justice and making false declarations before the federal grand jury.

Debs, a probation officer with the 18th District Court, was charged with one count of conspiracy, aiding and abetting, three counts of mail fraud, obstruction of justice and giving false testimony before the grand jury.

Qaoud was charged with one count of conspiracy, one count of mail fraud and aiding and abetting.

Also indicted for making false declarations before the grand jury were Louis Perry, believed to be living in California at present, and Donald Black, court officer to Judge Callanan.

The indictments, announced last Thursday by Assistant U.S. Attorney Joel Shere, culminated a two-year investigation by the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

The charges allege that Callanan Sr., Callanan Jr., Debs and Qaoud acted corruptly with the intent "to arrange and affect the outcome of criminal matters" before Callanan Sr. as judge in 18th District Court and as a visiting judge in Wayne County Circuit Court.

Callanan is accused of accepting from $500 to $2,500 from defendants through Qaoud and Debs to fix cases in District Court. Among the cases allegedly fixed was a third-degree criminal sexual conduct charge against Westland gas station owner Hanna Judeh, star witness in the grand jury investigation.

Reportedly, Judeh was told by Qaoud that unless there was pressure from the community, there would be no need for a preliminary examination on the charge and that the case would either "be dismissed or bound over to Circuit Court" to be handled by Callanan Sr. as the visiting judge.

Judeh allegedly was contacted by Debs and Callanan Jr. about the dismissal of his attorney and the retaining of Barbara Rogalle-Miller, an attorney associated with the law firm of Pomann, Callanan and Sofen, P.C., "for special people," since neither Callanan or any of his partners could appear in court before the Senior Callanan.

Allegedly, Judeh was to be charged between $5,000 and $6,000 for the legal representation and was told that Rogalle-Miller "was only a vehicle for his law firm to represent clients before his father" by Callanan Jr.

Judeh, represented by Rogalle-Miller, appeared before Judge Callanan in Circuit Court and received three years' probation to his plea of nolo contendere.

The indictments also address several other instances in which money allegedly was paid, this time by undercover FBI special agents, to have charges dismissed at the District Court level.

The foursome could face up to 20 years imprisonment and/or a fine of $25,000 for conspiracy and aiding and abetting. The mail fraud charges carry a maximum penalty of five years imprisonment and/or $1,000 fine on each count, while the obstruction of justice charges carry a maximum penalty of five years imprisonment and/or $5,000 fine.

The perjury charge carries a penalty of up to five years in prison and/or a $10,000 fine.

Callanan has stepped down from the bench, and his cases will be handled by Judge Thomas Smith, presiding judge of 18th District Court. Magistrate Les Hall, who has been handling civil infractions for the court, also will handle arraignments.

Smith has laid off both Black and Callanan's court recorder, while his secretary will be kept on temporarily to "clear up some paper work."

In the winner's circle

When Elnore Bundo and her husband, L.W. Bundo (at right) decided to get a glimpse at the 1983 T-Birds during an "Open House" held last week at Atchinson Ford's in Belleville, little did she realize that not only would she be given an opportunity to test drive the beauty, she would also win a "T-Bird" wrist-watch. While out on the road, her name was drawn as the first winner of the watch. Standing by the exquisitely designed T-Bird is dealership owner Kurt Atchinson. The dealership is located at 9800 Belleville Rd.

Microfilming

City documents 'find a home'

Thanks to modern technology you may soon be able to walk into the Romulus City Clerk's Office, ask to see a particular document, and it will be before your eyes in seconds.

The City Clerk has received council approval to microfilm the myriad city papers and documents.

"I'm really happy about all of this," said Raymond Cantrell, city clerk. "It's something we've needed here for many years and it will streamline and modernize our entire operation."

"Microfilming is a much more accurate and more professional way of handling all of the documents," Cantrell continued. "And, let me add that the service we will provide, unless the citizen wishes a copy of the document, will not cost our people a cent."

The council at its last meeting had authorized the administration to enter into a service agreement contract with the Microfilm System of Detroit for microfilming of city records.

The city will need what is called a "reader-printer" for review of the microfilmed product. To microfilm the city's documents there is an approximate cost of $12,000. Once on microfilms, the documents, stored on what are called cartridges, may be "printed out" and "recalled".

"At present we store our papers and documents in what we call transfer boxes," Cantrell said, "and we're quickly running out of space. We're using the police station and the City Hall to store them."

"But each of the film cartridges will contain between 2,500 and 3,000 pieces of document and, needless to say, those 4 inch by 4 inch cartridges will reduce the need for storage space considerably."

Cantrell pointed out that the cartridge is placed in the Reader-Printer which magnifies and translates the information on a screen for the reader.

"It's really a very simple process that will save time and energy. We will have all of the documents indexed and the person needing the information can take it from there."

When will residents be able to use the new service?

"I would say that within a year we will be able to retrieve any record within a manner of seconds from the past eight years, at least," Cantrell said.

Archambault decision nears

by DENNIS NIEMIEC
Feature Editor

A decision regarding the occupancy status of an apartment building located at 35550 Michigan Avenue (formerly the Nankin Hospital), is expected next month.

Circuit Court Judge Robert Colombo Jr. has scheduled a rehearing for March 25 to examine an order issued last December to have the premises vacated due to building code violations. Judge John Wise, who ruled that the dwelling be shut down, has retired, causing a temporary delay in the proceedings, according to City Attorney John P. McKinney.

The controversy surrounding the safety of the two-story structure reached a peak early last year when building owner Dr. Rene Archambault refused to have his facility vacated as ordered by the Wayne City Council. He filed a $6 million lawsuit, seeking the issuance of a certificate of occupancy for the building and damages, citing as defendants the City of Wayne, eight city officials and a nearby homeowner.

City inspectors have detailed 137 building code violations at the site and termed the facility "a hazard to the health, safety and welfare of the community and the building's residents."

Parents at Wick protest

Hoping to resolve a "no win" situation, Wick Elementary School Principal Richard A. Goode and Dr. William Bedell, Supt. of Romulus schools, met last week to formulate a plan for excursions other than the camping experience for sixth grade students.

Angered parents, armed with petitions, confronted the Board of Education last week to voice their opinion on the abrupt cancellation of the sixth grade "Outdoor Education Trip".

The trip is financed through a fund-raising drive by the students and the schools, and is overseen by the teachers. However, most of the teachers have backed out of the volunteer work this year in apparent protest of salary cutbacks.

In their petition, the parents noted that "the sudden cancellation of the sixth grade trip is completely unfair to the students."

"We petition the Board of Education to seek and provide substitute teachers for this trip to fulfill the commitment made to the students. If the promised trip cannot be taken this year that the Board of Education take action to remove it as a part of the sixth grade curriculum so that it can never again be used for selfish purposes."

"That the parents of sixth graders be provided an accounting and audit of all funds raised for the purpose of participating in sixth grade Education for the 1982-83 school year at Wick, and that parents have input as to how the funds are expended," the petition concludes.

In an economic move to save the school district from financial chaos, Dr. Bedell recommended and received board approval to slash salaries across-the-board by approximately 12 percent. Teachers say the move is in violation of their contract and have asked the courts to intervene.

In the meantime, Goode has issued a letter to the parents of the sixth grade students. That letter, in part, reads:

Dear Parents:
Dr. Bedell and I met with a group of sixth grade parents on February 17th, to discuss Outdoor Education options.

It was decided by all present that a worthwhile learning experience for our children could not be obtained without the proper personnel accompanying the children on this program. Therefore, we decided to form a committee of parents, two students representatives from each of the three sixth grade classrooms and one of the sixth grade teachers to formulate a plan for excursions other than the camping experience.

The first meeting of this committee is scheduled for Thursday, Feb. 24th at 10 a.m. in the Music Room. Any and all decisions will be shared with all parents before final decisions are made.

On behalf of Dr. Bedell and myself, we appreciate the support of all concerned in bringing this to a beneficial conclusion."

Armed Services

Scott David Paul, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Paul of 37457 Walnut Dr., Romulus, will enter the United States Air Force on March 3 for six weeks basic training at Lackland Air Force Base in Texas.

Paul will study electronics after his six-week stint in boot camp.

He is a 1982 graduate of Gabriel Richard High School.

William O. Chamberlain, 17, son of Robert and Grace Chamberlain, 47515 Bemis Rd., Belleville, enlisted in the U.S. Air Force today, departing here for six weeks basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, Tex.

Following completion of the basic, says his recruiter, Technical Sergeant Ed Lehmann, 3645 Metro Pice Mall, Wayne, Chamberlain has been guaranteed training as a Security Specialist.

Lehmann added that the 1982 graduate of Belleville High School will receive college credit for his Air Force training through the Community College of the Air Force.

Upon graduation from technical training school, Chamberlain will be assigned to an Air Force duty station.

Army Reserve Pvt. John W. Povlich, son of Mike J. and Betty L. Povlich of 24121 Kraft Place, Romulus, has completed one station unit training (OSUT) at the U.S. Army Infantry School, Fort Benning, Ga.

OSUT is a 12-week period which combines basic combat training and advanced individual training.

The training included weapons qualifications, squad tactics, patrolling, landmine warfare, field communications and combat operations. Completion of this course qualifies the soldier as a light-weapons infantryman and as an indirect-fire crewman.

Soldiers were taught to perform any of the duties in a rifle or mortar squad.

Ronald G. Maddox, son of James C. Maddox of 15066 Pondway, Romulus, has completed basic training at Fort McClellan, Ala.

During the training, students received instruction in drill and ceremonies, weapons, map reading, tactics, military courtesy, military justice, first aid, and Army history and traditions.

Airman Shelley E. Etherington, daughter of Jacqueline A. Wilson of 23723 Koths, Taylor, and Lawrence C. Etherington of 5940 E. Maple, Romulus, has been assigned to Keesler Air Force Base, Miss., after completing Air Force basic training.

During the six weeks at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas, the airman studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special training in human relations.

In addition, airmen who complete basic training earn credits toward an associate degree in applied science through the Community College of the Air Force.

The airman will now receive specialized instruction in the computer systems field.

She is a 1982 graduate of Harry S. Truman High School.

Army Reserve Pvt. Diana L. Krueger, daughter of James A. and Patsy J. Mason of 166 Wakefield Drive, Vacaville, Calif., has completed the medical laboratory procedures (basic) special-ist course at the Academy of Health Sciences, U.S. Army, Fort Sam Houston, Texas.

The course included clinical chemistry, urinalysis, hematology, immunohematology, serology, parasitology, bacteriology, and mathematics.

Her husband, Air Force Airman 1st Class John L. Krueger, is the son of John K. and Patricia Krueger of Belleville.

She is a 1982 graduate of Vandem High School, Travis, Calif.

Lions maul teachers

Romulus fans were treated to some great basketball last Monday when several members of the Detroit Lions took on a team composed of high school teachers.

The final score was 85-50 in favor of the Lions... the teachers tried, didn't they?

The Lions were represented by Dexter Bussey (all time leading rusher), Horace King (who holds the all time Lion record for rushes in one game), Alvin Hall (who led the NFC in kick-off returns), Garry Cobb (the Lion weightlifter of the year in '81 and '82), Larry Lee (only player in past 20 years to play both offense and defense for the Lions), and Homer Elias (the 1981 defensive co-captain).

Leading scorer for the Lions was Hall who could jump higher than a ballet dancer. He scored 30 points while Lee was next with 22.

While the Lions wore sharp blue uniforms with white trim, the teachers were dressed in maroon and white tops and anything they could find for the bottom. Some apparently had better luck than others in this department and took a lot of good-natured teasing. Boyes was leading scorer for the teachers with 14 points.

Excitement was added by the Lions going into the audience and dragging someone onto the floor to try to make their free throws.

Terry Mills must come by his talent naturally as his father did a super job as sub and the crowd cheered mightily when 11 year-old Mancini Myricks made his shot.

One woman did well and the Lions promised to use 6-year-old Kevin Long as the next try but didn't get the opportunity for any more free throws. Too bad... he's got just as sweet a jump shot as his dad!

Most people seemed surprised that the Lions could play as well as they did, even substituting a football for fun, once in a while. Interviewed after the game, Lee and Cobb both expressed interest in coming back next year and said they "really appreciate the opportunity to get among their fans and help the school make money while having such a great time." The said it was the cleanest game they've ever played as no fouls were called on either team.

Gunman robs gas station

An armed gunman held up a manager of a gas station early Monday Morning and escaped on foot with an undetermined amount of money.

The manager of the Total Gas Station at 8084 Wayne Rd. told Romulus police officers that a man who had a scarf pulled around his face and wearing a bright red nylon jacket approached him.

The man took out a blue steel revolver and a brown bag and ordered the manager "to put it in here".

The manager emptied the till and the robber turned and fled from the scene. No getaway vehicle was seen. Anyone with any information about the hold-up is urged to telephone the Romulus police at 941-8400.

Two would-be robbers, one armed with a double-barrel shotgun, ran up against a "gutsy" party store employee and escaped with nothing but frustrations early Sunday morning.

The two men entered the Lawson's Party Store, 23 Main Street, in Belleville around 5 a.m. and "wandered around the store," according to Belleville Police Chief Willard Dockter.

Then, one left and returned shortly, brandishing the shotgun. The robber announced the hold-up and demanded cash. Instead, the employee said "if you want it, come and get it."

The frustrated robbers, stunned by the response, turned and fled the store. They made their getaway in what is believed to be a Ford pickup.

They left 65 cents behind. It was for the purchase of a Snicker's candy bar.

"One of our men, officer Richard Wall, was about to leave the building when he heard the call. He ran across the street and almost got the suspects," Chief Dockter related.

The search for a Westland motorist accused in the traffic death of a Canton woman last December came to an end Friday with the arrest of William Matney, 25, at the Ann Arbor Greyhound Bus Station.

Matney, who had been at large for nearly eight weeks after skipping a Dec. 27 court date, faces a preliminary examination on a manslaughter count at 10:30 a.m. today in 35th District Court.

According to Canton Police Lt.

Larry Stewart, the police were acting on a tip when they apprehended Matney at the bus station at 7:45 a.m. last Friday. The suspect offered no resistance, Stewart said.

Arraigned the same day before 28th District Court Judge Donald C. Neitzel, Matney stood mute on the manslaughter charge. A plea of not guilty was entered for him.

The suspect was remanded to Wayne County Jail after he failed to post a $5,000 cash bond.

Matney is accused of killing Madonna Tharp, 34, of Canton in a hit-and-run traffic accident.

Succeeds interim president, Walters

Bell to head WCC college

George Bell, a familiar figure in education, was named last week to the post of President of the Wayne County Community College.

At a special meeting, Bell, 49, was picked to succeed interim President Thomas F. Waters.

Bell will assume the presidential role with a working knowledge of the college. He actively served on its seven-member trustee board since November of 1976 through December 31 of last year. Charged with the duties of Trustee Vice-Chairperson (November, 1976 - December 1977) and Board Treasurer (January, 1978 - December 1978) Bell acted as chairperson of the governing board from January 1979 through 1982.

During his recent service to Wayne County Community College, Bell also served as President of Detroit's Central Board of Education, of which he has been a member since 1975. In addition he has held chairmanship of the Detroit Board of Education's Region I and performed the executive duties as Director of the City of Detroit's Butzel Child/Family Center.

Active in public and social service in the Detroit and metropolitan area since 1973, Bell's interest in higher education and municipal affairs have been reflected in his early experience as a teacher, as an administrator for Detroit's Shaw College and as a former Executive Assistant to Mayor Coleman Young.

Receiving his formal education at the University of Pittsburgh and Cheyney State College, Pennsylvania, from which he received a Bachelor of Science Degree in Education in 1961, George Bell was granted a Master of Arts Degree in Sociology from the University of Detroit in 1974 and specialized training from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology's Alfred P. Sloan School of Management.

"We look forward to Mr. Bell's coming to WCC as President with great anticipation," said Board of Trustee Chairperson Doris J. Miller. "Our institution has been in the process of development for quite a while, and the Board's confidence in its new chief executive will certainly be matched by the challenges which await him."

Mack named to committee

Milton Mack, Wayne County Commissioner representing Van Buren, Belleville, Sumpter, Romulus and Huron Township, was appointed by County Executive William Lucas to the Solid Waste Planning Committee.

The Solid Waste Committee was established by the State Legislature to study viable means of disposing wastes and sludge.

Also named to the committee are: Frances P. Bennett, Patrick Burnett, Hershal Colver, Liz Maury Dean, Virgil Eller, Lee Fidge, Robert Kline, James Poole, George Tattre and James Watts.

WCGH controversy

Beard accuses Lucas of 'power grab'

"Wayne County Commissioners, struggling to keep the citizens' County Charter intact, were forced to fend off another power grab this week by Executive William Lucas who sought to place the county hospital facility under his direct control," Commissioner Kay Beard (D-12th Dist.) told reporters Friday.

Mrs. Beard said the commissioners rebuked Lucas' spokesman, Dennis Nystrom, when he submitted additional reorganizational plans that would place the 150-year-old county hospital complex in the CEO's "Office of Health and Community Services" division. "Under the CEO's proposal," Beard continued, "that division would be responsible for coordinating county functions relating to health, mental health, social services... including the Wayne County General Hospital."

"This is totally in conflict with Section 3.117 of the citizens' Charter which states clearly that 'the County Commissioners shall provide by ordinance for the operation, maintenance, and administration of public County hospital facilities and shall assure an adequate level of physical and mental health services for the residents of the County'."

"This is just another cheap shot by the CEO to close down the hospital," Beard said.

Commissioner Beard conducted a Public Hearing of the Human Resources Committee in Inkster last week that drew several hundred apprehensive citizens who feared Lucas might close the hospital and turn away thousands of unemployed and poor residents seeking medical care.

"We have to be constantly on guard to protect the Charter from such encroachments by the CEO," Mrs. Beard explained.

"When we balked at approving the infamous 'CHART 1-A' proposals which were included in the CEO's initial reorganizational plans, Nystrom threatened us with a referendum petition. Chart 1-A would merge the county's Public Works Department, Drain Commission, and Road Commission and place them under the CEO's 'Office of Public Services' division."

"We feel this was quite presumptuous, especially since the Drain Commission is still an elective office and the Road Commission is specifically designated by the Charter as an autonomous body. Such changes can only be made by a vote of the people — not by a directive from the CEO. Lucas also took it upon himself to name his own Road Commissioners and that outcome is before the courts."

Mrs. Beard plans to introduce a hospital ordinance within a few days.

Schools at crossroads

Millage workshop scheduled

One of the six statewide school millage workshops, sponsored by the State Board of Education, will be held on Thursday, (Feb. 24) from 1 to 4 p.m. in the auditorium of the Wayne Intermediate School District, 33500 Van Born in Wayne.

Although this is the fourth consecutive year the State Board has held millage workshops, it marks the first time they have been held before the annual school elections in June.

"The financial conditions in voter attitudes in this state make it much more difficult to get voter approval of local issues this year," State Superintendent of Public Instruction Phillip E. Runkel said. "Election campaign practices of the past no longer are successful. Participation well in advance of the millage election is needed to avoid the crises faced last year by many districts. Voters must be fully educated and convinced of the need."

NEW MINIMIZERS in Underwire and Soft Cup!

Announcing the first minimizer bras from Lovely Look by 18 Hour! These new minimizer bras support and gently shape to give a natural, more youthful profile. They are uniquely designed to reduce bust projection without squeezing or pinching. Choose the attractive underwire with tricot straps, or the delicate soft cup with camisole straps. Both bras have shimmering tricot cups and delicate lace accents—lovely on the inside, and even lovelier on the outside. Of course, the minimizers offer the famous 18 Hour stretch fabric, now in a new, lighter version for support with even more comfort. The underwire and soft cup styles are available in beige, sizes 34/42C,D and DD.

Easter Seal campaigners

Illness and disease are distressing, whenever or wherever they hit, but when children are afflicted they hurt doubly so. Therefore, the Romulus Rotary Club has intensified their efforts to raise funds for the Easter Seals, a foundation that helps in the battle against children's diseases. The Rotarians are seeking to raise more than $400. Serving as president of the local club is Joel Carr (at left), and Mike Prybyla is heading the publicity. Throughout the month the club members will be seeking donations. Also, canisters will be placed in retail stores to accept contributions. If a resident wishes to send a check, they may do so by mailing it to The Romulus Rotary Club, Post Office Box 39, c/o Mike Prybyla, Romulus, Michigan 48174.

Woodland Walk at Kensington

A "Woodland Wisdom Walk" will be held at 2 p.m. at the Nature Center of Kensington Metro-park near Milford Brighton on Sun., March 6.

'Farmer of the Week'

Kocevar heads Kelsey-Hayes Heintz Division

The appointment of Frank Kocevar as President and General Manager of the Heintz Division has been announced by Alex Jackson III, President, Aerospace Operations, Kelsey-Hayes Company.

During his 10 years with the company, Kocevar has held a number of key positions including Group General Manager of the Brake Group, and Plant Manager at Detroit and Romulus plants.

FRANK KOCEVAR

Kocevar's experience in the Automotive and Aerospace Industries also covers staff and executive assignments with TRW, the Cooper-Bessmer and Ken Tool Divisions of Cooper Industries, Borg Warner, and Marion Power Shovel.

The Heintz Division, with almost one million square feet of manufacturing floor space at its Philadelphia, Pennsylvania plant, manufactures a diversified array of products for the Automotive and Aerospace Industries. Automotive products include steel rim passenger car wheels for OEM, and stamped steel body panels, hoods and fenders for prior model vehicles. The Division is a major producer of precision fabricated components and assemblies for gas turbine engines. Products include aircraft engine seals, combustion chambers and afterburner assemblies fabricated from stainless steel, titanium and super-alloy materials. The Division also services major airlines and military installations with a component repair and overhaul facility.

Frank and Dorothy Kocevar have two grown sons. They will re-locate from their West Bloomfield, Michigan home to the Philadelphia area.

Belleville farmer receives honor

Jeffrey Sayre, 43070 Ecorse, Belleville, has been named Farmer of the Week for the week of February 21 in recognition of his contributions to Michigan agriculture.

The weekly award, which honors farmers in Michigan, is sponsored by the Michigan Farm Radio Network and Farm Bureau Insurance Group.

Sayre, 26, who has been farming most of his life, is a cash crop, vegetable and hog farmer.

He currently farms 250 acres in partnership with his brother, Tom.

His involvement in community and agricultural affairs includes: Active in Wayne County farm issues and organizations; chairman of the Wayne County Young Farmers; serves on the executive committee of the Wayne County Farm Bureau; serves on the Farm Bureau policy development committee; and assistant chairman of the Farm Bureau membership committee.

Sayre and his wife, Melinda, both contribute to the farm operation.

Recipients of the Farmer of the Week Award, who are selected by the Michigan Farm Radio Network and Farm Bureau Insurance Group, are chosen for the quality of their farming operations and for their contributions to the community and agriculture.

The award recipient for each week is announced Monday mornings over the statewide Michigan

Farm Radio Network. Recipients are awarded a personalized certificate and a custom-designed Farmer of the Week belt buckle from the local Farm Bureau Insurance Agent.

The Farmer of the Week program was started in 1975 to recognize Michigan farmers each week for their contributions to the state and the agriculture industry.

Community-civic leaders play host to Van Buren grade school pupils

Twenty-six of the area's community and civic leaders played host to several sixth grade students from Elwell School last Wednesday evening at the Brass Belle Restaurant. The children were all members of Carl Marosi's class who recently completed a unit on restaurant manners.

The children and the sponsors who treated them to dinner included: Ron Rice, with Jim Ammerman of Ammerman's Lumber; Jeremy Hartwick with Leonard Armstrong of Armstrong's Funland; Tammie Weedon with Bob Binert, Elwell's PTO President; Joey Bongornio with Mr. and Mrs. Phil Bragandi of the Brass Belle Restaurant; Lisa Posegay with Mrs. Connie Brinkerhoff, Van Buren School Board President; John Newsom with Fonnice

Butler, Van Buren Community Education Off Campus Director; Kathryn Korotney with Mrs. Ruth Clift, Elwell School Secretary; Samantha Balsbaugh with Cindy Coleman, VB Education Association President; Keith Farr with George Craven, Van Buren Township Supervisor; Ginny Burchett and Dawn Janusz with Officer Joe Davies of the VB Township Police Dept.; and Tim Wellwood with Morris Divian, Manager of Belleville's National Bank of Detroit.

Also attending were: Dawn Blair and Becky Vitale with Corporal Wanda Elden of the Sumpter Township Police Dept.; Tobie Russell with Mrs. Theresa Green, Principal of Rawsonville Elementary School; Scott Wilson with Mrs. Julie Hacala, the class's Language Arts

Teacher at Elwell School; Donald Robillard with Mr. Bill Lloyd, VB Schools Director of Community Education; Michael Ritchie with Dr. John MacDermid M.D.; Mike Combs with Mr. Carl Marosi, the class's teacher at Elwell School; Michele Dunford with Mrs. Ann Pavelka, President of the Belleville Business and Professional Women; Daniel Barlage with Dr. Elvin Peets, Superintendent of VB Schools; Lloyd McMillan with Mrs. JoAnn Posegay, a coordinator in the Elwell Library; and Duane Townsend with Jim Reeves, Supervisor of Sumpter Township.

Others who participated were: John Gamsjager with Mr. Kevin Riling of the Pump and Grocery in Belleville; Storm Wilcox with Dr. Antoinette Schiesler, VB School Board Trustee; Sherry Ostrowski with Mr. Gil Schmitt of Country Sports; Mike Wolf with Mrs. Dolores Temple, VB School Board Trustee; and Angel Woodington with Chief Brad Traskos of the Van Buren Fire Department.

This enjoyable experience served as a practical outlet to a classroom experience, as well as an opportunity for both community and career exposure, school officials said.

"Still, perhaps, it's greatest value may have been in showing the children that the adults of our community do care about them and their educational future," added Marosi.

SUMPTER TOWNSHIP

FOOD FOR THOUGHT
By John Brimble

No-bake sweets are made with 1 cup each chopped dates, chopped walnuts, powdered sugar, and peanut butter, plus 2 Tbs. melted butter. Form into small balls and dip into 12 ounces melted semi-sweet chocolate. Place on waxed-paper-covered baking sheets and refrigerate until chocolate sets.

Need just a teaspoon of tomato paste? Don't open a can! Tomato paste in a tube is now available. It can be recycled and kept in a refrigerator for months.

Don't throw away leftover vegetables — turn 'em into a rich soup supper. Puree any combination in your blender or processor, and heat with 3 cups milk, 1 cup chicken broth, and 1 1/2 cups shredded cheese. Add diced ham and hot pepper sauce to taste.

Chopping tip from famed chef Michel Guerard: always use a knife a size larger than you think necessary.

It's faster to "bake" acorn squash in a skillet. Cook 1/2-inch-thick slices in butter, for about 20 minutes, covered, turning now and then. Sprinkle with brown sugar and cinnamon for flavor.

It's faster to take the family OUT for dinner than to cook — and lots more fun. Especially when you come to

Capt. Nemo's Submarine Sandwiches

our opinions

We urge Van Buren to renew school taxes

During these disastrous economic times, any tax increase or school millage proposal is as welcome as the bubonic plague. It is inconceivable to us for any legislative body to ask more today from its citizens when most of us are barely making ends meet.

Michigan is not in the midst of a tax revolt, but we are standing at the precipice. One more tax shove by a would-be legislator and we believe Tisch will become our next governor.

Residents and taxpayers have continuously given their fair share to support schools and its government. We realize that without taxes there would be no schools. No police. No fire department. No roads, and not many other human services.

But, we are convinced that a line must be drawn somewhere.

That line will be considered by Van Buren Public Schools' taxpayers who will be going to the polls on Tues., March 1 to decide the fate of their schools.

On the ballot of the special school election, voters will find three proposals: Proposition I is a proposal for an 11.5 mill renewal for four years for school operation; Proposition II is a ¼ mill renewal for four years for school maintenance purposes; and Proposition III is a request for a 3-mill increase for four years for school operation.

School officials stress that the 3-mill increase is "being requested to maintain the present level of school operation. Continued reduction in state funding and continued rising costs make 3-mills request necessary just to meet day-to-day operating expenses."

"It is being requested to avoid the already serious deficit situation becoming so severe as to force the closing of the school system due to inability to meet payroll..."

Proposition I and II obviously will not raise taxes. Proposition III will: by three mills, (A mill is $1 for each $1,000 of assessed property value). If a homeowner's house has a market value of $30,000 and the assessed value, which is half of the market value, is $15,000, the 3 mills will cost the taxpayer and additional $45 per year.

It is an additional tax.

It is also probably the best investment a resident can make.

It doesn't take a genius to understand what would happen to a community if your schools closed their doors. And some districts are contemplating just that. It takes money to run and maintain school systems.

We don't believe that Van Buren residents will turn their backs on their schools.

We won't. We urge you to renew Proposition I and Proposition II. We implore you also to consider closely Proposition III.

Your children's futures are at stake.

'Don't Judge the Judge'

Recently, the media has been taking advantage of a very unpleasant but newsworthy happening in our community.

The media has taken this opportunity to condemn, ridicule and defame the character of Judge Evan H. Callanan, but before we, as citizens, do the same, remember these two things: The word "Indictment" that has been mentioned so often in the media, means "a formal accusation made on a person by a Grand Jury" and in this country, we are presumed innocent until proven otherwise. If your neighbor "formally accused" you of killing his entire family, the mere accusation would not make it a fact.

While it is good business and "Good Print" to bring up the past of a person for the media, perhaps we, as human beings should remember that we must do our "business" with a much Higher Power!

Perhaps too, we should take a look at the many good things accomplished by Judge Callanan in recent years.

Of course there are countless former drunk drivers who are now recovering alcoholics as a direct result of Judge Callanan sentencing them to a mandatory alcohol treatment or awareness program as a result of an alcohol related offense of some kind. Further, these men and women who have become sober have been able to help others afflicted with alcoholism. Thus, many potential accidents relating to alcohol and driving have been avoided before injuries occur.

When we citizens complained of the undesirables in the Westland portion of Hines Park, the Westland Police issued hundreds of arrests for open intoxicant charges, dope, indecent exposure, etc. Judge Callanan worked in the Court until late at night to insure speedy trials for those arrested. It should be noted that during this period, Judge Callanan suffered an embolism due to the many long hours on the bench and lack of circulation in so doing. Days that lasted from 9 until midnight were common, but the Judge felt that the progress was worth the pain. Those found guilty were dealt with severely and our park was once again a safe place to take our children.

By reactivating a somewhat dormant Volunteer Work Program in 1976, Judge Callanan has been able to save the City of Westland thousands of dollars and at the same time help our senior citizens and keep our parks clean.

Perhaps we should consider the possibilities of why Judge Callanan ran unopposed in 1982 for re-election. Could it be that those who were qualified considered Judge Callanan the best man for the job in spite of their own qualifications? Could it be that Judge Callanan has such a good "track record" that it would be nearly impossible to campaign against or that many of those qualified did not want to give up a lucrative law practice to serve their city as Judge Callanan has done?

No matter what the reason, Judge Callanan was re-elected and has continued to do a fine job for the 18th District Court and if the media does a thorough un-biased investigation, this too, will be revealed.

A balancing act

guest editorial

Attack upon teachers was unjustified

I cannot help but respond in anger to another attack upon the integrity of Romulus teachers which once again has appeared on the pages of the Romulus Roman edition of the Associated Newspapers under the pretense of anonymity.

I suppose that I, too, would have been reluctant to sign my name if I had written such illogical drivel.

I am referring to the letter which appeared on February 16 signed by a "6th Grade Parent" in which three sixth-grade teachers at Wick School in Romulus were accused of "using innocent children" because they are not taking their students to camp this year.

Since they announced that they would not be able to follow through with plans they had begun earlier in the year, the sixth-grade teachers at Wick have received numerous phone calls and written notes protesting their decision.

In addition, many parents attended and spoke at last Monday's school board meeting, and 300 signatures were turned in on a petition which also opposed the position of the teachers. The number of people involved in these complaints is astounding in light of the history of the Outdoor Education Program at Wick.

I am currently a teacher at Halecreek School in Romulus, but in September of 1975, when the building first opened, I was a sixth-grade teacher at Wick. Since I had been involved in a successful camping program at Beverly School the year before, I helped organize Wick's first camping trip. In every single year until 1982 (when I was assigned to another building), I was deeply involved in Wick's Outdoor Education Program.

For six straight years, together with many different teachers from Wick and other schools (including the ones currently being criticized), I helped in planning, organizing, budgeting, scheduling, arranging transportation, recruiting and training staff, preparing materials, developing curriculum, grouping, conducting workshops, evaluating, and making evening presentations to sixth-grade parents, P.T.A.'s, and the Board of Education.

This, of course, was all on our own time and was in addition to the actual week at camp itself, during which we were all responsible for the children 24 hours a day, without extra compensation. Not once in all those years did a single parent take the time to write a small note or make a short phone call to say, "Thanks." To be quite honest, I never really thought, at the time, that they should; but after thinking back to all those years without a word being said, I find it all the more incredible that over 300 people would sign a petition of protest the one year the teachers decide not to go!

The letter stated that the current Wick teachers decided not to go to camp this year because "the school board cut the teachers' pay a few months ago by 20%." Mr. or Mrs. "6th Grade Parent" also chastised the teachers for not following through with their "commitment."

I find it amazing that the word "commitment" is used in this community only when it means from the teachers to the people of Romulus.

All three of the Wick sixth-grade teachers have children of their own they're supporting; why is it so difficult for the Wick parents to comprehend that it's necessary for these teachers to make adjustments in their personal lives, such as finding part-time jobs, in order to compensate for a deep and sudden slash in wages? Can't teachers be allowed to have a commitment to their own offspring?

Shouldn't this community have a commitment to provide its teachers with an adequate, steady income?

Shouldn't the school board, which represents the community, have a commitment to bargain faithfully, instead of unilaterally imposing drastic wage cuts?

I found it particularly galling that Mr. or Mrs. "6th Grade Parent" felt that the kids were being "used" by the teachers.

If the word was appropriate at all, it was when the parents "used" the kids (carrying signs) in their protest at the school board meeting. The three Wick teachers who were being criticized could have brought their own kids from home with signs reading, "My Daddy Can't Afford to Go to Camp," or "My Mommy Can't Buy Me New Shoes Since the Board Cut Her Pay."

But then, of course, the teachers would have been attacked in another anonymous letter.

The Assistant Superintendent for Personnel in Romulus has told teachers that, "What you do during your work day is what you're paid for; what you do on your own time is what you're praised for."

Well, we've been getting our pay slashed for what we do during our work day, and instead of being praised for what we've done on our own time, we are viciously assailed for what we choose not to do.

It should therefore be simple to understand the depth of the bitterness felt by the teachers of Romulus.

Instead, when we try to discuss our predicament, we are given responses such as, "So what if you've got a college education!"

It has become painfully evident that the small-minded, anti-intellectual mood of a certain segment of the Romulus community is more than just a mood; it is a rampant disease.

Many of the citizens who keep stating that they are concerned about the kids and want them to have the best possible education are the same ones who will undoubtedly continue to attack the very people who are trying to provide that education, lending credence to the 200-year-old words of Thomas Gray. In an "Ode on a Distant Prospect of Eton College," Mr. Gray wrote that, "Where ignorance is bliss, 'tis folly to be wise."

Time capsule

Tom Mooradian
Managing Editor

For those of you who are around in the Year 2003, and if earth doesn't commit suicide by arming to its teeth with nuclear warheads, then spitting the venom out in an all-out atomic war, here is what your ancestors were debating in February of 1983:

For the past decade our leaders have urged us to cradle energy as if it were a new-born child; to be careful not to waste oil, gasoline, fuel and all forms of energy so that we would have time to rebuild our energy industry thereby escaping the yoke of the OPEC (Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries) cartel.

Americans responded as they have always during a crisis.

And now, with the OPEC nations on the defensive for the first time in over a decade, instead of applauding, we heard about all the misery we have caused oil-producing nations who, with the price of their product spiralling downward, must lay off workers and don't have the cash available to meet their international debt obligations.

Is it sickening to hear how WE have caused the misery. We decided to conserve energy and, instead of the euphoria one should have upon seeing the cut in gas prices, we hear the rabble-rousings of politicians here and abroad on how we must maintain higher prices at the fuel pumps to preserve international economic stability.

In winning, we're losers.

And, dear reader, it appears that Richard Debs, who was a key and prominent figure in the demise of the former Van Buren Township Board of Trustees, just can't stay out of the news and controversy.

Debs, President of UAW Local 1776, who was named as Van Buren Township police commander last year and subsequently resigned under fire, allegedly is the "middle man" in a scheme to "fix" court cases brought before 18th District Court Judge Evan H. Callanan, Sr.

In a document unveiled last week by federal officials, the 45-year-old Debs, Judge Callanan, the judge's attorney son, Evan H. Callanan Jr., and a Dearborn businessman will have to come up with their defense to federal accusations that they were involved in racketeering, mail fraud, and also were vehicles of obstructing justice.

Obviously we will let the jury pass judgement on the accused.

We hope you of the Year 2003 don't have similar headaches.

However, those of you who are around in 2003, we hope you have found a solution to those would-be politicians who campaign on tax reform and immediately, upon entering office, vote themselves a hefty pay hike.

Like Nero who fiddled around as Rome burned, our elected officials quickly defect into the ranks of the greedy as soon as the last ballot is cast.

They let the county, state and nation burn. How can people in Lansing even think of a tax increase at a time when millions are lined up in the hallways of unemployment offices?

Don't give us that bull about how brave it is to fight popular opinion. The cluttered unpaid bills of the unemployed (and many of the employed who, with a gun at their foreheads, accepted concessions and salary cuts), must face each month are silent witnesses that they need jobs.

Taking money away from business and individuals won't create jobs. Let us suggest not mailing social security benefits to the deceased; let us suggest that each and every elected official in the county, state and nation, give back 10 percent of their salaries to help feed the hungry; let us suggest that, though the defense of this country may be a top priority, the welfare of its people is its best defense.

We who live in 1983 wish you, the citizens of 2003, better luck with your elected officials.

On politics in Westland

EDITOR — I am writing in response to a letter written by a Larry Dildine dated February 10, 1983. His letter was directed at the Westland City Attorney with questions and exaggerated truths concerning Mayor Charles Pickering. I use the term exaggerated for the reason this writer along with my wife was mentioned in the article.

I have concern, for the fact that I do not know you Mr. Dildine nor have I ever heard of you. One is curious as to whom are your informer(s) and/or mentor(s)?

Part of the letter stated that back in 1978 Chuck Pickering fought to be the Director of Parks and Recreation. You failed to mention that during that period Mayor Pickering was the Deputy Director of Parks & Recreation, therefore, their apparent to the director's job.

Mr. Dildine also made note that "local politicians organized his campaign, which included rallies and letters to local papers."

You state my name as one of the managers of the campaign. Again, I have concerns as to where you gained the above information?

To the best of my knowledge, there was no "organized campaign." It was my own idea (as it is for this letter) to write the two local papers questioning why Chuck Pickering was not appointed Director of Parks & Recreation. Mr. Pickering has been an acquaintance of mine for a number of years and to quote from a 1978 letter... "it would be a travesty that the most likely and capable person not be appointed to the position."

As to organized "rallies," a number of citizens attended the council meeting the night the director was to be appointed. If attending a council meeting is considered a rally, so be it. At no time was I a manager of a campaign. Also, I am undecided if I should be upset or feel privileged after being referred to as a "local politician" in your letter.

There is another area of concern in which I feel you should get your facts and/or half truths straight. My wife does, indeed, work in the Mayor's office. The Mayor has authority to hire his own personnel for his office, as did the previous mayors as well as the future mayors. She is employed on a part-time basis in the Mayor's office and it should be noted the position was made part-time by the City Council.

There is a saying that "Ignorance is Bliss" and it appears your letter has a number of blisters.

Yet another state tax hike?

EDITOR — Once again we have seen how ludicrous a politician can be once they get into office. It is becoming increasingly apparent to me and others that when a person gets into political office they seem to lose all sense of conviction and compassion for those people who put them in office.

Note now the tragedy that is unfolding in the State of Michigan.

Here we have a newly elected Governor who not only requests a state income tax hike of 38%, but has the unmitigated gall to receive an $8,000 or 11½% pay raise.

What does he grant the taxpayers of this state, but more of the tax and spend attitudes of uncaring politicians.

Now in order for him to get this raise he wants the hard working people of this state to fork over an additional 1.2% of their income so he can be able to wine and dine with an 11% pay raise.

At the same time he tells the state employees not to be so greedy and to accept a freeze or cut their wages. Here is hypocrisy in its finest hour.

To James Blanchard I say: How can you call yourself a representative of the people when you want more of our money to fill your pockets?

Don't give us that line that the pay raises are automatic and you had nothing to do with it. School aid payments were automatic until you politicians did otherwise.

Michigan has almost a 15% unemployment rate and you people in Lansing get an across-the-board pay raise. How long will this insanity last?

Show us what kind of man you are by refusing and voiding all the pay raises granted you and your cronies. Or perhaps you will be just like the other cowards in office who seem to say, "The working men and women must sacrifice so I can take care of my pals and myself."

Don't give us your sweet platitudes until you show some sense of concern for us taxpayers.

Drivers please heed warning

EDITOR — I really want to get this off my chest.

First of all, I dropped a friend off the other day at Wayne County Community College-Belleville campus. While coming out, there is a turning point (a short cut) where the cars coming off of Haggerty can turn into the parking lot.

Well, this day I, with the right of way, had to "stop" to let three cars turn into the parking lot. As each one went by, all looking at me, I beeped my horn. Two of the 3 cars just looked at me, like if I was the dummy. The third gave me an obscene gesture, I hope he reads this paper because if I wasn't so nice, I would have given him one too.

Just as I started to continue on, a fourth car coming out of the lot, where he had a stop, too, didn't even bother to look my way. He came about a foot of hitting me. No sorry — no nothing! I think they should block off that short-cut.

Second, to the people who turn from S. Haggerty road, right onto Huron River Drive in the time of 7 a.m. I would appreciate it if you wouldn't cut us off.

We are traveling 45 mph, you are at a dead stop. You may think you can quickly go from 0 to 45 mph, but we can't go from 45 to 0 mph within a matter of seconds, especially with a stick shift!!

Every morning I or the person ahead or behind me almost gets hit. But what you don't realize is how many times I almost plowed in a few back ends. P.S. 25 mph is too slow!

Nursing Home coverage hailed

EDITOR — Although it has been quite some time since the article appeared in the Ledger Star, on Thanksgiving, 1982, staff writer Tom Mooradian deserves a personal note of thanks from me and my family.

Mr. Mooradian did an excellent job in compiling the information into a beautiful and accurate story. Although the information we sent to several papers, you were the only one interested.

The experience at the nursing home was beautiful and equally gratifying to all of Papillon members. This type of sharing was new to many of them.

The article has been requested by many friends and relatives and we have shared it.

Again, we appreciate your sensitivity to our purpose that enabled you to produce such a well written tribute to my father.

May life continue to love you.

Wayne High has pride

EDITOR — This is in response to Mrs. Smith's criticizing the condition of the girl's bathroom at Wayne during the January 11 wrestling meet between Temperance-Bedford, Ypsilanti and Wayne Memorial High Schools. I would like to point out the following:

1. The girls bathroom that your daughter cited as being filthy is the bathroom that is used during all events that are held in the old gymnasium.

2. The lavatory is locked and opened prior to the admission of the audience. If there are problems, the custodian immediately corrects any situation that does not meet health and cleanliness standards.

3. The bathroom was verified as being cleaned by the head custodian prior to its use by the public at this event.

4. The condition of the bathroom, as described by your daughter, was the result of the use of the facility by the female population attending the wrestling meet that day.

Mrs. Smith, I regret that you had an "unsatisfactory" report on the condition of Wayne Memorial High School.

I believe the response to your question regarding who is responsible for the poor condition of the girl's lavatory can only be answered by the young ladies that abused the facility during the wrestling meet. Please be assured that this unfortunate occurrence was the exception and not the rule.

I certainly hope that you will take the opportunity to have the same pride in Wayne Memorial High School as you did when you were a student.

Employees say WCGH 'the best'

EDITOR — Wayne County General Hospital has and continues to be a vital and necessary facility to the people of Wayne County and more than ever to the people of the City of Wayne (which comprises 50% low to moderate income families).

My husband and I have a vested interest in it's remaining open; as we are both employees and have been for the past 13 years. We have, however, been on both sides of the fence — the giving and the receiving end. Our son was born at the facility in '76. None of our family would consider seeking medical treatment at any private hospital in the area. The physicians are knowledgeable (of a much high caliber) than the medical staffs of the areas other facilities, and truly dedicated to the patients in their charge.

I worked in the Emergency Room of a private hospital in Livonia and personally saw drug overdose victims, attempted suicides and car accident cases — refused treatment and shipped by ambulance/cab/private car to our facility.

My grandfather (a stroke victim) was refused admittance at the private hospital in his city until my grandmother brought $900 to their insurance office. (My grandfather had worked for one of the Big 3 and had full coverage BC-BS and Medicare).

I have never in my 13 years of employment at Wayne County General Hospital seen a patient refused treatment for any reason. With more and more people out of work, they cannot afford treatment at private institutions either for lack of insurance, reduced benefit coverage, etc., but they can and hopefully will always be able to receive treatment at our facility.

Classrooms no place for complaints

EDITOR — Why can't teachers keep their union matters in the negotiating room and out of the classrooms? I am sick of the constant complaining our kids must hear about their pay cut. Most parents have had cuts too.

If the teachers don't like their pay then why don't they take their picket signs, armbands and propaganda and go into private industry, this sort of thing has no place in the classroom.

We pay a lot of school tax for one reason, to educate our children, not to put them in the middle of a wage controversy.

What the sixth grade teachers at Wick School did was inexcusable. To back out of a promised trip that the kids worked so hard for doesn't say much for their integrity and credibility as teachers.

I request that my name not be printed so my children will not suffer for my expressions.

reflections

The family and their pets

I read an article by a fellow who said if only he had laid down a rule governing pets, today he might be a well-to-do man with normal blood pressure and hair more pepper than salt. But he didn't, and he's not, and they aren't.

And when I read that I said Amen.

Naturally, my husband wanted to know what I was praying about, and when I told him what this man Stoddard had written, he said, "That's right. And if we had a rule about how many kids we were going to bring in this world, I would have had hair."

But I knew he was just yad-dling away, because one time when I threatened to do away with a kid, that kid's father came to the rescue. If he had really meant what he had just uttered he would never, never have taken that broom away from me, would he?

But pets — I had to agree with Mr. Stoddard. There was something about a pet in my house that caused unnatural things to happen. I should have learned from the first experience that pets and my household just didn't mix.

I should have realized that my kids weren't natural either, when the two older girls begged to have some goldfish. And I let them. I have no one to blame but myself. I let them have those goldfish. I even went out and bought them. I even bought the bowl and the fish food, and the little gizmo's one puts into goldfish bowls to make fish think they are living in a castle. And what happened?

The first evening that I had to go to the PTA, those goldfish decided to leap from their bowl and flop around on the table. And neither girl would touch them.

"They are going to die," the biggest girl shrieked and began running around banging her head on the refrigerator and anything else that was head high.

"Pick them up, somebody. Our goldfish are going to die," yelled the second kid, running around and bumping her head on the kitchen cupboard and the dishwasher which someone had forgotten to push back in its proper place.

Well, those goldfish did die. Not that night. Someone came to their rescue, and I think it was the littlest kid who wasn't even out of diapers yet, for Pete's sake.

One can't really make a hero out of him, though, because if I am absolutely honest I will tell you that the kid loved to pick up squishy things, only he usually put them in his mouth. Someone must have directed his hands toward the bowl. I'm sure of that since the goldfish lived.

The worse pet was the chameleon. The boys named him 'Freddy' after our oldest boy, who claimed the chameleon was his. That is, he claimed it was his until the creature got loose and disappeared behind the bookshelves. Both boys ran into those bookshelves, arms flying and fists flailing, and you guessed it. The bookshelves fell down, and books were all over the place. One kid got a lump on his head and the other kid got a lump on his knee. But the chameleon didn't get hurt at all. At least I don't think it did, since we never saw him again.

And then there was the little white rat. How those boys loved that little white rat. They claimed he would come to them and run up their arms when they whistled, but since rats and me have nothing in common, I can't really vouch for that, since I never saw it. If I knew that rat was out, I made sure I was upstairs making a bed or something equally diligent.

One day, however, that rat got out, and no one had whistled for him, either. And I went downstairs to do my ironing on my ironite, and when I pulled the lever down there was a fearsome squealing...and that was the end of the white rat. That was also the end of my ironite.

That is when I said no more pets. But that was before George (our dog) came to live with us, and he was the only pet that survived more than a few days. That was because he was made of sturdier stuff, and he had a ferocious bark which kept him pretty safe for all of his long life. Although there were times when that life was threatened, particularly the time we had to go to court because he tried to eat up someone's pet poodle.

But that's an old story that most of you have already heard. Right at this moment there are no kids in my house and no pets. The kids I miss...

She thought about why that was and decided that it was a combination of things: The strenuous exercise brought on a stimulating flow of adrenalin and the common bond of joblessness made them all feel comfortable with one another.

So comfortable, in fact, that during the last hour they were talking freely and openly about all the anger and the fears they had held inside for so long.

Some of the other "Y's" are looking into similar programs, and it's an excellent idea — but there's nothing stopping anybody from starting up their own group. All you need are people ready and willing to share experiences. And there must be plenty of them out there.

When a 'worker' is unemployed

I've been thinking lately about that phrase, "unemployed worker." You hear it a lot these days. There are a lot of "unemployed workers" these days.

It's a good phrase, as phrases go. It implies that the person in question, even though he or she is not "employed", is still a "worker".

It implies, too, that, since the person in question considers himself, or herself, a "worker", the fact that he or she is "unemployed" is more than likely due to circumstances beyond his or her control.

And it implies even further that the "unemployed" part of the phrase is seen by the "worker" as a condition of a most temporary nature.

When you think about it, that one phrase, "unemployed worker", serves to tell the world that here is a person who could be, should be, wants to be working — but isn't.

Still, more often than not, the person bearing the title is more than just a little ashamed of it. Unemployed workers, even though they're well aware of the fact that they live in the state with the highest unemployment figures in the entire country, are still not convinced that their being out of work at the moment has no direct bearing on their ability, or even their desire, to work.

They obviously need to be convinced — but who's going to do the convincing? Being without a job is something people don't much want to talk about.

The people with jobs feel — okay, guilty — for having them, and so, while they're in sympathy with the ones without jobs, they have a hard time finding common conversational ground. No one wants to talk about how great, or even how bad, his job is to someone who doesn't even have one.

And the person without one finds it hard to talk about the hardships that go along with being jobless without sounding like he's looking for a handout.

So everyone just sort of shuts up about it and talks about the weather, instead.

Still, the issue is there. Too many unemployed workers feel some great shame for being out of work. Too many of them see it as a flaw in their character; a "fault" they should be able to overcome. They seeth and boil inside with every passing jobless day, until inevitably they explode — at great danger to themselves, or, more likely, their families.

And then the shame that brought on the rage turns to shame again. Nobody knows that cycle better than the unemployed worker, himself. Which is why some of them are getting together to do something about it. And what they're doing is talking.

They're talking about their rage, their anger, their disappointment, in what are loosely (but appropriately) called "support groups".

One group I know of get together every Wednesday from 10:00 to 12:00 at the Highland Park YWCA for a morning of free swimming, exercise and talk. Jackie Hollier, the program director, said the first morning it was offered, about 40 men and women showed up. They were tight-lipped and apprehensive

Never too late Volunteers offer hope to those who cannot read

By SUE McDONALD
ANP News Editor

Sally Taggart has the same nightmare every night. She dreams her baby swallows poison, and she can't read the phone book to summon an ambulance.

Sally Taggart has the same problem more than 292,000 adults in the State of Michigan have. She is illiterate and for her that illiteracy means fear, since her inability to read renders her and her child helpless.

For the literate, reading is taken for granted and when confronted with instances of illiteracy, they often respond with shock and disbelief. Disbelief that one in every five adults over age 16 can't read. Disbelief that in Wayne County there are more than 24,000 persons over age 25 unable to read. Disbelief that in Wayne County, one out of every four adults hasn't completed the first grade.

a week. No matter at which level the student is reading, the tutor begins with Book One, the bare basics of reading. The student from day one learns to read, spell, punctuate, write and construct sentences. The goal is to bring the student to a fifth grade reading level so that further instruction can be pursued through adult-continuing education classes.

According to Luhtanen, in many instances illiteracy isn't the result of a lack of education, but rather the student having fallen behind in school, and when ready to resume the learning process, they were "so far behind, they were overwhelmed."

While literate people may perceive illiterate persons as stupid, just the opposite is true, according to Luhtanen.

"These people aren't dummies; they just can't read," she explained. "They have a great ability with subjects like math and have good memories. These people are very bright; they devise ways of "These people aren't dummies; they just can't read. They have a great ability with subjects like math and have good memories. These people are very bright; they devise ways of concealing their illiteracy from others."

— Linda Luhtanen, Secretary
Wayne-Westland Literacy Council

How, or why, illiteracy occurs is hard to determine, but a small group in Wayne and Westland have adopted the philosophy of Dr. Frank Laubach: "Each one, teach one."

The group is the Wayne-Westland Literacy Council established by Karen Groom last year, to help teach adults to read through a tutoring program involving Laubach's method of phonics and picture association.

"There's no reason adult people in this country shouldn't read," said Linda Luhtanen, one of WWLC's five tutors. "Things we take for granted are so difficult for them (illiterate people) to overcome. It's terrifying for them."

The council at present has five tutors, each working individually with adult clients two hours concealing their illiteracy from others. They just don't want others to know."

It has been determined that to be a good reader some 260 skills must be mastered, and the tutors, who have been trained in the Laubach method, are finding that they are picking up reading skills as they help their students.

Amy Zielinski, a WWLC tutor, has found her students enthusiastic and eager to learn. In fact, so eager that the students are anxious to get each lesson started and hard to stop at the end of the hour.

"They are so proud when they can do something they couldn't do," she said. The pride is mutual, with the tutors expressing a reward for their work that's hard to explain.

Linda Luhtanen, Amy Zielinski and Karen Groom practice their teaching skills

"What we get back is hard to describe," Zielinski explained. "To see the student's face change . . . They were struggling at first and then they start learning. It's such a good feeling."

The Wayne-Westland Literacy Council, a member of Michian Literacy Inc. and the Laubach Literacy International, has been in existence since October 1982. At present it has five tutors and four students but Luhtanen and Zielinski want to see it grow to serve more adults.

The tutorial work is voluntary. Tutors receive 12 hours of training in the Laubach method and are asked to commit two hours a week for at least one year. The only requirement is that the volunteer know how to read.

WWLC is planning a tutor's workshop for April, which will be able to accommodate up to 30 new volunteers. The cost will be $20 per person, which will pay for the teaching manual and first three workbooks and skill books and membership in the state and national organizations.

WWLC is looking for a sponsor, so it can expand the reading program. At present it is able to provide the basic workbooks at a charge of $2.50 to the student, but cannot afford auxiliary books, dealing with such things as balancing a checkbook that are applicable to the daily life of the student.

"When we need something, we've been reaching into our own pockets, but those pockets are getting kind of empty," explained Luhtanen. "Right now we're contacting churches in hopes that through their bulletins we can reach more tutors and students and get some money."

The tutors have found that close ties develop between themselves and their students, and that when they have to cancel a lesson, they have feelings of guilt.

"Once you see a student once or twice, you're hooked," Zielinski said. "But it's surprising, the tutors are as scared as the students at the first lesson. After that, there's a bond that does develop between tutor and student."

The tutors have seen changes in their students. One who was withdrawn and lacked confidence, came out of her shell as her mastery of reading improved. Another was in awe, when he realized that the red and white stop sign meant what it said, stop.

"I had one student who would go over the next lesson so that when he read for me I would think he was doing well," Luhtanen added, "he was that embarrassed about not being able to read."

Persons interested in becoming WWLC tutors can contact Groom at 595-0920 or Zielinski at 722-6829.

A teacher by profession, 29-year-old Grizel Lynette Butler Davis of Romulus was a pageant contestant by choice as she vied for top honors in the 1983 Mrs. Michigan/America Pageant Feb. 11. She competed with 21 other married women from throughout Michigan for the crown, which went to Carol Lynne Sisko of Dearborn. Her husband is Darcel Davis.

50th anniversary

Eugene and Dorothy Gauthier feted

The banquet facilities at the Dark Horse Restaurant in Toledo, Ohio, were chosen by the children of Eugene (Whitie) and Dorothy Gauthier for their parents' 50th wedding anniversary.

Held 50 years to the day their parents exchange their nuptial vows, the celebration attracted guests from Florida, California, Ohio, Pennsylvania and the Michigan cities of Belleville, Plymouth, Warren, Redford and Garden City.

The Gauthiers, who exchanged vows on Nov. 29, 1932 at St. Paul's Methodist Church in Monroe, were ferried to the party in a 1930 Model A Ford sedan from daughter Mary Loeb's home in Toledo.

Flower cornucopias decorated the tables, and a decorated sheet cake, made by a grandson's girlfriend, was served to the guests as part of the celebration. The Gauthiers, who have lived in the Belleville community for 11 years, shared the head table with his two sisters and sister-in-law from Florida.

Mrs. Gauthier chose a beige suit with brown print blouse and wore a corsage of yellow tea roses for the party.

A retired sales engineer of the Dura Corp., Gauthier and his wife belong to the Van Buren Senior Citizens Program and numerous mixed bowling leagues. He is a former All-Star bowler in Toledo, as well as having played basketball for the University of Toledo from 1929-30. Their other affiliations include 25 years in the 700 Clubs of Toledo and "T" Club.

The Gauthiers enjoy visiting friends and going out for lunch, while he enjoys the spring and summer chores. Mrs. Gauthier also crochets.

The Gauthiers have nine children, who with their spouses hosted the party. They are Victor and Alice Mary Gauthier of Toledo, Frank and Nancy Cox of Westminster, Ohio, Robert and Mary Loeb of Toledo, Frederick and Nora Gauthier of Toledo, Richard and Benita Gauthier of Ephrata, Pennsylvania, Lawrence and Judy Gauthier of Redford, Michigan, James Gauthier of Belleville, William and Karen Gauthier of Garden City, Michigan, and Carl and Barbara Fanning of Plymouth, Michigan.

The Gauthiers have 22 grandchildren.

Granny's Attic sale is Saturday

Get out your calendars and circle Saturday. Then plan to join in the fun at "Granny's Attic Sale" which will be sponsored by the September Days Senior Citizens.

You can also play a part in the sale if you wish since the group is looking for those-to-good-to-throw-away items you have taking up space in your house. If you find that you have clean, workable household items and would like to donate them, the place is the Senior Center in the Township Hall on Feb. 24 and 25. No goods will be accepted the day of the sale.

A bright new feature has been added this year, one in which members themselves may participate. Any September Days member may rent a table for $5 and bring in his or her own articles for re-sale. This is an opportunity to clean the attic, garage or basement and help "Granny" out at the same time.

Sale hours will be from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

the dining room and seated at tables decorated with red napkins and bouquets of red and pink carnations and white daisies.

Before dinner, the guests were entertained with music by four church choirs — the New Methods Choir, made up of church youth, the Cherub Choir, the Childrens Choir and the Chancel Choir. Choir members sang several solos. During dinner a musical group made up of church members, called "Joyful Noise" played for the guests.

After dinner, the guests were returned to their residences by the church members who brought them.

Some comments from guests were:

"Thank you all for the food, entertainment and cheerful help."

"It was beautiful, just beautiful."

"I've never been treated so well."

Guests came to the dinner from the residences of Venoy Continued Care, Dion Nursing Home, Apple Tree Lane Convalescent Center, Whispering Willows Nursing Home, Van Buren Convalescent Center, Living Center East, Living Center West, Evergreen Hills Convalescent Center, Gilbert Residence, Kith Haven Convalescent Center.

There were 175 guests at the dinner and 150 church members to serve them.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Mericle of Denton Road were Sunday luncheon guest of friends, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Campbell of Clinton. They all enjoyed a winter's drive through the country side.

After having been a surgical patient at Harper-Grace Hospital in Detroit, Charlie Grover is now convalescing at their home on South Huron Road near New Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. George Haft of Church St. received word on Tuesday, Feb. 15, of the death of Eula's father, Mr. Lauren Ames, at Sebring, Fla., following a lengthy illness. After services at Sebring, funeral services were held at Antwerp, Ohio, at 2 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 19, with burial in the family plot. Mr. Ames would have been 91 years of age in April.

Vincent Goodnuff and Darryl H. Raymond Sr. attended a luncheon at the Washtenaw High 12 Club held at the Grotto in Ann Arbor on Thursday noon. Mercer Patriacke, a retired railroad engineer, furnished the entertainment by showing a railroad movie from various countries.

After having been a surgical patient at the University Medical Center for the past several days, Wallace Smith is now recuperating at his home on Geddes Road.

Views On Dental Health

By KENNETH A. FOX, D.D.S.

A BAD BITE

A bad bite can cause a lot of trouble for children and parents. In dentistry, we call this malocclusion, the improper contact between teeth and jaws when biting.

There are lots of causes, including loss of teeth through decay or accident. Bad mouth habits can cause it, too, such as thumbsucking, tongue thrusting, or breathing through the mouth.

The best thing to do is pay close attention to your child's teeth as soon as they grow into place. First or baby teeth have a big effect on permanent teeth. By looking for wear marks and other signs a dentist can tell if crossbite or other problems are beginning.

As the baby teeth are replaced with permanent teeth, sometimes the new tooth may come through crooked or push other teeth out of line.

The earlier problems are handled, the better chance your dentist has to correct them and keep your child's teeth healthy. Major corrective treatment, such as orthodonture, can often be avoided with proper early dental care.

Scoops-n-Scores

Neighborhood parlor offers more than ice cream in Wayne

By DENNIS NIEMIEC
Feature Editor

The name — Scoops -n- Scores — is clever but a bit misleading too. Yes, this neighborhood establishment, located near the Wayne Community Center at 4554 Howe, serves plenty of ice cream. And the four video games in the rear of the building surely ring up a fair amount of "scores."

But there's more than ice cream and video games here. Owners John Learning and Greg Drys, both of Westland, have expanded the menu to include a variety of sandwiches, pizza, homemade soups and chili. "We're trying to recreate the neighborhood ice cream parlor that offers more than ice cream," explained Learning, who purchased the business with Drys approximately a year ago. "This was an ice cream store before we bought it but now we've opened the place the year round and are catering to any age group. "The video games are separated from the eating area to avoid any confusion. We're very happy with the results." The proprietors also are happy with the work of local artist Karen Spearman, 20, of Inkster who painted the colorful mural on the side of the building featuring enough ice cream renditions to tempt any sweet tooth. Once inside, the customer can choose from soft ice cream (cones range from 65 cents to $1) to Cloverdale brand ice cream (70 cents and $1.10 for cones). Of course there's also the sundaes, shakes, malts, floats and coolers to consider. Deluxe Sundaes, priced at $1.65 and $1.75, include hot fudge, pecan royal, fudge brownie, fudgeanna, pineberry boat, banana boat, tin roof and parfait. For the calorie conscious, the weight watcher's frosted treat on a cone cost 95 cents and $1.20. The regular menu offers a submarine sandwich ($2.25), ham and cheese sandwich ($1.90), pizza (85 cents), hot dog (90 cents and $1.45 for a foot long), A BLT ($1.75), soup ($1), popcorn or chips (35 cents), pop (50 to 90 cents) and two protein drinks, orange and papaya ($2 each).

"We plan on continuing to add special discounts," Learning said. "Last year we gave all members of Wayne baseball teams a 20 percent discount. That's something we'll do again this summer." Scoops -n- Scores, managed by Tim Tynan, is open from 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. weekdays and from noon to 9 p.m. Saturdays and Sundays.

Creative touch

Karen Spearman, 20, of Inkster displays her creative efforts on behalf of Scoops-n-Scores in Wayne. Miss Spearman painted the colorful mural on the side of the ice cream parlor while attending school last year. The establishment is located near the Wayne Community Center.

An album for history

THE FUGS
"Greatest Hits Vol. 1"
(PVC)

The Fugs came out of the Village in New York in the mid-60's and proceeded to offend practically everyone, which is one of the better ways to build up a following (just ask Iggy).

Their albums were released on Folkways and the ESP-Disc label, and are all collectors' items now. All except a live after-the-fact LP on Warner Brothers, but that's not all that great anyway. This, however, is a different matter.

The late-great rock critic Lester Bangs described the Fugs as "Poets, with a bed-rock-primitive folkie guitarswatter or two thrown in." And if you don't understand that, one listen to "Slum Goddess From The Lower-East Side" will convince you that Bangs was right. Whatever he meant.

The Fugs were made by and for those of us with decidedly warped senses of humor. I'm sure, for example, that journalist Hunter S. Thompson heard "New Amphetamine Shriek" back in the 60's and it undoubtedly made it's way into his subconscious where it festered into writings like "Fear And Loathing In Las Vegas."

This album represents more than history...it represents essential history.

MUSICAL YOUTH
"The Youth Of Today"
(MCA)

The Shirley Temples of reggae? Sure enough, this group of 11 to 16-year-olds has hit number one in England and are fast closing in on the top of the American charts with the single "Pass The Dutchie." I can't help wondering if this is the way Bob Marley would have wanted it, but I like them despite myself.

Notepad

It's rumored that David Bowie's spring-summer tour will have him playing from one to three nights at Ann Arbor's small but acoustically great Hill Auditorium. If so, the rush for tickets will exceed even that of the Stones' Masonic show a few years back...

Speaking of the Stones, Mich Jagger plays a Chinese emperor on cable's Showtime Network this summer in an episode of "Faerie Tale Theatre."

John Cougar, aka "Superstar At Last" has offered to produce an album by Detroit's own Mitch Ryder. The fact that over the past four years Ryder has recorded a number of horrible LP's on the power of his name alone seemingly doesn't matter. Considering Cougar's penchant for fast motorcycles and Ryder's penchant for eating for twelve, a possible title could be "Fastboy and the Fatboy."

"I Told You So Dept." — The Stray Cats, who were heralded here as heading for Superstardom a year-and-a-half ago, have obviously made it, with "Build For Speed" selling over two million copies. But, sport fans, did you know that the American album is simply a collection of songs from the band's first two British releases, "Stray Cats" and "Gonna Ball?" And what's not on the U.S. LP is every bit as good as what is. Available at Dearborn Music, Off The Record, and most record stores that carry imports.

Yamaha Keyboard World sponsors festival

Organists of all ages and levels of skill are eligible to participate in the 1983 National Yamaha Electone Festival, sponsored locally by Yamaha Keyboard World, located at 35164 Michigan Ave. in Wayne. Deadline for entries is March 1.

Winners in the local competition will represent the area in a regional festival with a chance to earn a berth in the U.S. national event. Organists in various age groups will vie for cash awards and trips.

"There are many talented organists of all ages in the area," noted Pat Feight, owner of Yamaha Keyboard World. "We feel it is important that our area be represented in this unique music festival."

Former judges of the national finals include such personalities as Nelson Riddle, Quincy Jones, Sarah Vaughn, Donny Osmond and Toni Tennille.

Yamaha International Corp. is a major manufacturer of pianos, organs and other musical instruments. Questions regarding the upcoming festival can be directed to Yamaha Keyboard World at 729-2220.

Local wrestlers dominate tourneys

Salem wins 'A' title; Wayne winds up 3rd best

Local high school wrestling teams and wrestlers earned their share of district medals in competitions held at a handful of sites across the state over the weekend.

Plymouth Salem claimed the Class A District championships staged at Ann Arbor, while Wayne Memorial finished third at the Temperance Bedford tournament. In Class B competitions, Dearborn Heights Robichaud was runner-up at Monroe Jefferson.

Salem garnered 130 points to emerge atop a field of 19 competing teams at Ann Arbor. Belleville and Plymouth Canton shared sixth place. Each had 69½ points.

The Rocks qualified four for this week's Regional Championships to be held on Saturday at Trenton. They received gold-medal performances from John Beaudoin (138) and John Woodchuk (155). Coming away with silver medals from Ann Arbor were Rick Vershave (98) and John Walkley (198).

Salem also qualified three others for the regionals: Tom Frigge (132) and Kevin Vonotten (heavyweight) who were third, and Dave Dameron, who placed fourth at 105.

Belleville, which won the final

Suburban 8 Conference title a week ago, will be represented at the regionals with Brock Nigg (132), who captured a gold medal at the district, and Jim Campbell who finished third at 145.

Although Canton was shut out from the winner's circle, the Chiefs managed to squeeze in four grapplers for the district. Todd Bartlett (112) and Marty Heaton (145) lost in the finals of their respective weight classes and came away with silver medals, while Tim Collins and Larry Janiga finished in fourth at 126 and 138 pounds, respectively.

Perennial state powerhouse Detroit Catholic Central captured the team championship at Bedford with a total of 203 points, and the defending champ, Bedford, was runner-up with 174. Wayne, with more gold medalists (4) and three silvers, finished a strong third (171½).

Westland John Glenn piled up 83 points and settled for sixth place.

Coach Don Haney and the Zebras received championship performances from T.J. Harris (105), Jeff Pangman (112), Dan Matauch (119) and Joe Colaianni (132), while they finished second with Jim Ertman (138), and Doug Shepherd (198), and Dave Davis (98).

Glenn's Tom Buckalew qualified four wrestlers through the districts with Tom Gibson (105) and Rob Pacioeco (145) finishing second, while Don Forchione was third at 155 and Tom Aloisi wound up fourth at 198.

In Class B competition at Monroe, Jefferson, Dearborn Heights Robichaud wound up second to defending state champ, Monroe Catholic Central. Monroe CC, ranked No. 1 in the Class B polls going into the tournament, mustered 159½ points. Robichaud amassed 147 points.

Coach Sam Ellis' Bulldogs dominated the districts in the 132-pound class where Mark Davis, a senior who has piled up an 18-1 record, defeated Jeff Hodges from Southgate Aquinas, 10-9, for a gold medal.

Robichaud also produced a district champ in 138-pounder Andre Boulling who turned back Milan's Dave Kempher, 11-5. Boulling has an enviable 40-1 record on the season.

Glenn Lucas worked his way to a 2-0 decision over Monroe CC's Steve Haddock for Robichaud's final gold. Lucas is among the favorites to win the regional at 155.

The Dearborn Heights-based team had a pair of runners-up in Lloyd Fudge (98) who lost to Bill McDonald of Riverview, 9-3, and D'Andra Stephney, who was pinned by CC's Jerry Umin in the finals of the 145-pound class. Robichaud also qualified Matt Hauck (167) and Donald Moon (105) who finished third and fourth respectively in their weight classes.

Robichaud has been designated as the host for the Class B regionals in this area. Coach Ellis sees his team in the middle of the title squabble with Monroe, Saline and Algonac battling it out to the end.

Today the district, tomorrow the state

With the Michigan Amateur Hockey Association Pee Wee "B" District I championship safely stashed away, the Wayne Youth Hockey Association's entry will head for the state playoffs in Saginaw on March 12 in hopes of adding the coveted state title. Members of the championship team include: Eric Rankin, (seated from left) Brian Murray, Greg Haywood, David Timcoe, James Wadworth, Donny Rademacher and Brian Wood; second row are

Showdown ahead

Wayne's swim title in jeopardy

The showdown between Wayne Memorial, the defending Great Lakes 8 Conference swimming champ, and Monroe, the only team to defeat the Zebras this season, is scheduled for March 3.

On that date at Wyandotte High School, coach Jim McPartlin's tankers will place the title on the block. If they can finish ahead of the Trojans at the conference meet, they will salvage at least half of the crown.

"We're improving," said Coach McPartlin, after his minions destroyed Livonia Churchill 78-49. "But Monroe has the front-runners. We have to be ready for this one."

Wayne will take a 11-1 over-all won-lost record to the championships scheduled to begin at 3:30 p.m. with the diving and preliminaries. The finals are scheduled for the same day at 6:30 p.m.

Glenn continues to chase North for league swim crown

If Westland John Glenn is going to have anything to say about the Northwest Suburban Conference swimming championship, coach Larry McConnell's Rockets must find a way to finish ahead of undefeated North Farmington at the conference championships.

After trouncing Redford Union 83-41, the Westlanders maneuvered into second place in the conference but still find North ahead of them in the standings.

North handed McConnell his first and only league setback of the season, and the Rocket mentor must devise a plan to outdistance the pacesetters at the league meet scheduled for March 3-4 at the Livonia Franklin facilities.

In the meantime, Glenn, with 10 out of a possible 11 first places, dunked R.U. for their third win in four starts. Brian Pawlowicz, Mark Winfrey and Mike Jensen each had two individual event victories.

Pawlowicz proved best in the 200-yard freestyle (1:56) and the 500-yard freestyle (5:08.7), while Winfrey touched in first for the 50-yard freestyle (23.6) and the 100-yard breaststroke (1:07.7), while Jensen captured the 200-yard individual medley (2:14.7) and the 100-yard butterfly (59.2).

Meet results: Westland John Glenn 83, Redford Union - 41.

St. John cagers split

St. John's evened up its season basketball record at 6-6 with a 28-23 victory over Martin Lutheran in the boys division while the girls fell 24-20 to their counterparts.

The girls are now 4-6 on the year. St. John's returns to action on Friday at St. Stephens of Adrian where action will get underway at 5:15 p.m.

Although it had no bearing on their first place status in their respective leagues, Belleville and Taylor Truman went at it last Friday night as if championships were at stake.

The reason: Coach Tom Niemi's Tigers at Belleville High handed Truman their first loss the first time around.

And the second time was sweet, not for the Tigers, but for Truman, who earned a hard and well-fought 54-46 victory over the Suburban 8 Conference basketball leaders.

"We missed too many shots from the field as well as from the free throw line to beat a team that was playing before a spirited crowd," Niemi noted. "When you make only 19 of 69 shots, you know you're in trouble."

Trouble, in the form of Glenn Aaron and Jim Harris, began early for the visiting Belleville cagers who trailed most of the game and managed to catch up with one minute to go (44-41) in the final period. But it was Aaron, who sank a game high 20 points, that broke the deadlock for good with a short jumper that found its mark. Harris contributed 17 points to the Truman cause.

Niemi had only one player in double figures, and that was Michael Mellon who tossed in 14 points, far below his 20 point average. Truman shot its way to a 16-11 first period lead, increased the margin to 29-23 at the halfway mark before Mellon rallied the Tigers with a 12-8 advantage in the third period. Truman squelched the uprising by outscoring their visitors 17-11 in the final eight minutes.

Friday night will be the final chance for Tiger fans to get a glimpse at their team on the home court. Niemi's minions will host Bedford before hitting the road the following week to take on Dearborn for the Suburban 8 Conference title.

If the Tigers stop Dearborn they will come away with their first basketball title (outright) since 1958; a loss to the Pioneers and they will have to settle for co-champions.

Bowling marathon helps Special Olympics

by JIM WRUBLEWSKI

This week we want to congratulate the employees at Fiesta Lanes for their contribution of personal time and effort for a worthy cause. These people not only spent their time working at a bowling center, they also help promote the game and, at the same time, raise money for the less fortunate.

A bowling marathon was held at Plymouth Bowl recently to raise funds for the Special Olympics, and the four teams from Fiesta Lanes raised over $2000 through pledges during that event. A special "tip of the hat" to Mary Richard who accumulated $400 in pledges to lead the group.

Scoring at Fiesta Lanes featured Jeff Patrell going 104 pins over average with a 270 game and 13-year-old, Julie Hendrix, hitting a 236 game in the parent/youth league.

Following those leaders came a parade of memorable shooting which includes Dave Pickett with 290-256 for 752; Al Bellozary had a 277 and 732; Dan Jacobs hit a 257 for 715; Dale Wilkie with 698; John Stephens had a 278 for 695; Gary Vignary a 287 and 693; Mike Kane with a 682 series; Rich Clack at 680; Ken McNabb with 678; Glenn Gill and John Paul Shilevinatz each had 676 totals; John Camp with a 268 game for 675; and last, but by no means least, Bob Hawkins with a 651 series.

Lodge Lanes was the site of some memories being made when Carol Hardy recorded her first 600 series in grand fashion by shooting a 663 total; and Ron Rajda hit his first with a 263 for 603.

Walt Crawford had an enjoyable night with games of 234-237-245 for 715; John Bowen hit 646; Ginny Patke rolled a 259 game; and 17 year old, Brian Melidonian hit a 235 to pace the younger set.

Town & Country highlights included Ernie Arbogast at 744; Doug Marham with a 722; and Wally McNeill finishing with a 708 series.

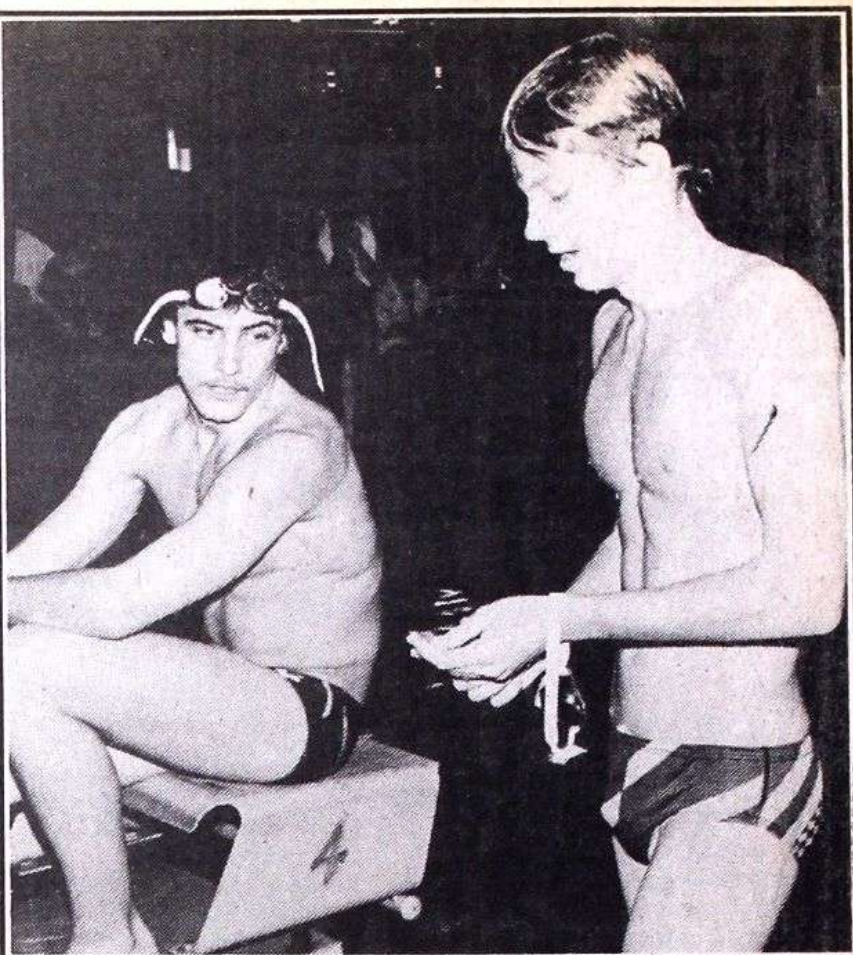

Westland Bowl was the sight of some exceptionally admirable scoring, and in the minds of many, a greater achievement than a perfect game, when Jim Griffith put together games of 266-269-267 for an award winning 802 series.

Bob Rose was impressive on his way to a 734 total on games of 289-233-212; Rick Williams hit 223-259-246 for a 728 series; Rick Farr had a 721 total; and Larry Brown threw 11 strikes in a row for a 290 game. The girls were paced by Carol Jesson shooting 204-209-223 for a 636; and Colleen Johnston didn't let a little illness (the current bug) keep her from setting a target for her husband, T.J., when she had games of 183-251-200 for a 634 total.

Featured in the 15-18 year old group was Tracy Mull with 210-224 for a 633; Karen Alexander had 210-204 and 568; Mike Voyles hit 224 for 653; and in the 12-14 year old bracket Todd Quattlander hit 223 and 571.

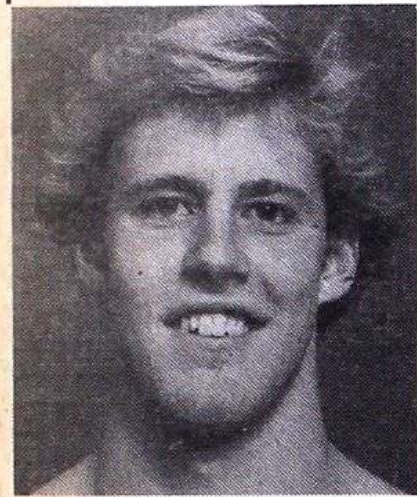

You will want to reserve some dates on your calendar for two upcoming events in this area that should not be missed. First is the 36th Annual Wayne-Westland Men's Bowling Association Tournament to be held at Wayne Bowl the first four weekends in May and, next, is that SUPER BASH — the Awards Dinner Dance with the big band sounds scheduled for June 18th.

To the victor...

While a fellow teammate looks on, Cherry Hill's Rodd Wohlfeil admires the medal he was awarded for winning the 100-yard free-style event (49.23) at the Western Wayne Swimming & Diving Invationals hosted by Cherry Hill. Wohlfeil and his brother, Marc, are two good reasons why Coach Debbie Karabee's Spartans are favored to retain the Tri-River Conference title next week.

Ex-Spartans aid in EMU quest for swim title

DAVE LINDEN

Two former Cherry Hill High School standouts, David Linden and Curt McNamara, are members of the 1982-83 Eastern Michigan University men's swimming team that will be seeking an unprecedented fourth straight Mid-American Conference championship at the league meet March 3-5 in the new Olds/IM Pool on the EMU campus.

Linden, a 6-foot-1, 160-pounder from Westland, was ninth at the 1981-82 MAC meet in the 500-yard freestyle and was fifth in the 1,650-yard freestyle. He has improved his speed over the past year according to EMU head coach Mike Jones and is expected to be a scorer in the 200-yard freestyle along with two championship place finishes in the 500 and 1,650-yard freestyles in this year's meet.

McNamara, a 5-foot-9, 173-pound sophomore from Inkster, was sixth in the 200-yard breaststroke and ninth in the 100-yard breaststroke at last year's MAC meet. Jones expects him to be a scorer in those two events again.

The EMU men's team heads into the MAC Championships with a 9-1 overall record and a perfect 7-0 record in dual meet action in MAC competition. The Hurons first won the league title in 1978 and then captured crowns in 1980, 1981 and 1982.

CURT McNAMARA

It's do-or-die in Over 30 hockey

Two games remain in regular season play for the Wayne-Westland over 30 Hockey players. All Sorts Sports and Little Bills Trophies have their sights set for their respective Division Championships.

All Sorts Sports took the lead in the Berrington Division by skating past contender Little Bill's Trophies in last week's activities while Brock Builders took the lead in the Bonkowski Division by carding a victory over Futurama.

Family Heating still has a chance of catching Brock's.

Only one point separates the title hopefuls.

Last week, Dave Frankling and John Castellanos tallied for two goals apiece to lead Brock Builders to a 6-2 victory over Futurama. Frankling also picked up one assist; Ken Howe and Bob Wood accounted for Brock's two remaining goals. Ed Harmon received three assists; Gary Pierce finished with two assists while Paul Kos, Ron Swider, Otto Mason and goalie Jeff Fagle picked up one assist.

Futurama's scoring went to Mike Villemure and Ken Murray with Ron Tyranski and Jim O'Gozaly assisting.

Family Heating kept its hopes alive by skating to a 5-1 victory over Etronic. Dave Zielinski and Jack Bockstanz tallied for two goals apiece with Zielinski also picking up an assist. Dan Thomas accounted for Family Heating's remaining goal. Al Pulk picked up two assists while Ron Wojewski, George Klempert and Bill Creekmore finished with one assist.

Ralph Tack scored Etronic's lone goal early in the second period with George Sharpe and Jim Drewry assisting.

Mic-Dago Pub help off a determined Jake's Lounge to log a 6-3 win. Ed Glaub received a hat trick for Mic-Dago's; Dale Frankes tallied once and received two assists; Rod Dittmar scored a goal and picked up one assist while Ron Hays checked in with one goal. Art Autio finished the game with three assists while Norm Beasley, Pat Brown, Arnie McLellan and Rick Mullen picked up one assist.

Jake's scoring came in the final period as Dave Roberts, Roger Wodgenske and Dennis LaPensee all found the net. Wodgenske and LaPensee also picked up one assist. Arnie Cox and Ken Beal finished the game with one assist.

After a scoreless first period,

Rick Wolkowicz and All Sort's Sports took control and handed Little Bill's Trophies a 5-1 loss.

Wolkowicz rattled the net four times and picked up an assist on Tom DiLaura's goal. DiLaura picked up two assists while Ed Spon-tack, Mike Beals, Nelson Vanderburgh and Ray Schemanske finished with one assist.

Little Bill's got on the scoreboard late in the final period as Terry Johnson rattled the net with John Clearwood and Dave Zajac assisting.

Johnson's Carbonic pulled off a last second 4-3 victory over Tastee Freez as Mike O'Shea found the net with 15 seconds remaining in the game. Layne Cardinal tallied for one goal and two assists; Ron Johnson scored once and picked up one assist as Dave Fishwick accounted

'Too Sweet' to box at Romulus High School

State Boxing Commissioner Dr. Stuart Kirchbaum announced today that the Michigan State Board of Athletic Control has voted to sanction the Feb. 23 boxing contest between Alvin "Too Sweet" Hayes (16-0, Detroit) and Forest Winchester (15-0-2, Southfield) to fill the vacant State Lightweight Title.

The match, scheduled for 7:30 p.m. at the Romulus High School Gym (1-94 & Wayne Rd., Romulus) is a joint promotion of the Romulus High School Boosters Club, along with Romulus Friend of Recreation and Motor City Professional Boxing with proceeds to benefit both high school sports and city recreation programs.

Hayes, with 16 pro victories under his belt is seeking national ranking and a shot at the top-ten contenders. At 6'1", "Too Sweet" is billed as the tallest 135 pound professional boxer in the world.

Winchester, a native of Columbus, Ohio recently moved to the Detroit area to train with his half-brother, former World Lightweight Champion Hilmer Kenty. Unde-feated as a pro, Forest sees this fight as an opportunity to move up in the lightweight ranks.

Tickets at $10 (general admission) and $25 (sponsor-includes post fight cocktail party) are available at City of Romulus Recreation Dept., 36515 Bibbins, Romulus; Cambell Chop Shop, 9275 Wayne Rd. Romulus; Metro Radiator, 36124 Goddard Rd., Romulus; Powerhouse Gym, 16231 Woodward, Highland Park (3 blocks S. of Six Mile); and all C.T.C. Outlets.

Two 8 round semi-main events are also scheduled. In the first, undefeated Jr. Middleweight Wayne "Troubleman" Powell (10-0, Detroit) will face Steve Williams (9-6, Chicago); in the second 8 rounder, popular Bret Lally (9-1, Westland) goes against veteran Anthony Joe Travis (11-9, St. Louis) in a lightweight battle.

Other fighters on the card: Middleweight Brad Lally (4-0, Westland) vs Stan White (4-0, Detroit), 6 rounds; Heavyweight Dion Simpson (8-1, Detroit) vs Sammy Jones (6-2, Chicago), 6 rounds; Spencer Chavez, Light Heavyweight (4-0, Dearborn) vs Larry Johnson (1-2-1, Chicago), 4 rounds; former National Golden Glover 1982 Champion, middleweight Arthel Lawhorn (6-1, Detroit) vs Lorenzo Brando (2-0-1, Chicago), 4 rounds; Heavyweight "Irish" Keith Kelly (10-1, Detroit) vs Robert Obey (1-0-1, Chicago), 4 rounds and the pro debut of welterweight Dwight Robinson vs Danny Blakes (3-1-2, Chicago). Scheduled 54 rounds of professional boxing.

Voices of Democracy

Although Democracy is taking a beating worldwide, it is well preserved here and in our youth. Recently, high school students were able to express their feelings on the subject and Romulus' Pamela Lynn Kasenow (picture below, center) earned local and district honors with her thesis. Joining the local champ are Rose Marie Baxter (at left, front row) and Marc Marsuglia (at right) who were runners-up. The third place winner, Ruth Moore, was not available at the time of the photo. Also pictured in the picture above are contest chairman Tony Kmet, (second row, from left); Mayor William Oakley, Councilman John Lewkowicz and Floyd Landers, VFW Dads' Post 209 President.

Voice of Democracy

Kasenow is district champ

It's never too late to pay tribute to a winner. And Pamela Lynn Kasenow, an articulate young lady at Romulus High School, is a winner.

Pamela Lynn, competing in the Voice of Democracy contest, earned first place honors not only at the high school, but went on to capture district honors and advance to the state competitions in Lansing.

Miss Kasenow was among the best in Lansing, but failed to qualify for the national contest.

The contest, sponsored by the Romulus VFW Post 9568 and the Romulus VFW Dads Post 209, the topic for this year's competitions was "Youth - America's Strength".

For her winning effort, Miss Kasenow was presented a $500 U.S. Savings Bonds, a medal, and a certificate.

Tied for the runner-up spot were Rose Marie Baxter and Marc Marsuglia who both received a $100 Savings Bond, medals and certificates. The third place winner, Ruth Moore, was given a $50 bond, a medal and certificate.

The awards were presented by Mayor William Oakley and Councilman John Lewkowicz.

Pamela went on to compete against 29 other high school students representing some 14 other districts and finished atop of the field. Her performance netted her a $200 savings bond and a trophy.

The winning entry

Youth --- America's Strength

While taking a walk on a windy, mid-October day, I happened by chance to pass by the school which I had attended as a child. The familiar bricks which formed the walls of the building graced my eyes and brought back many memories and a smile.

As the memories came floating back to me, I found myself wondering if elementary school was still the same: learning mixed with fun and games. Curiosity got the better of me and I decided to have a look and see. I aimed my footsteps closer still toward the windows and the window sill.

Quietly, I peered through the glass and observed the scene within the classroom. A small child sat at his desk drawing pictures in his geography book, while still another child laid his head upon the tabletop to enjoy an afternoon nap.

My thoughts drifted back to a small girl with green eyes who sat in the third row of that very same classroom. My mind rapidly noted the difference between this class and the one of the past. I was mildly amused to find that there were few. As in both cases, the children were equally unaware of the challenges that life in the United States would bestow upon them.

Living in America has been and will always be a responsibility and privilege. The men of Lexington and Concord fought for the privilege of being an American and it is the responsibility of future generations to protect it.

While watching the children prepare for a spelling test, I pondered the responsibility which was being exhibited by these students even at this early stage in life. The responsibility of self-improvement through education. Without realizing it, these children are fulfilling a dream that many people envisioned as they were fighting for the freedom of this great nation. A dream that America would forever be free and strong, and that her citizens would be both academically and vocationally advanced.

As I shifted my position at the window, I noticed two of the male students partaking in an arm-wrestling match. This display of strength was not as important as it once was. As technologies become increasingly complex, it takes one of strong mind and character, not necessarily of body, to advance and protect this nation.

As I continued walking, I began silently to list everything that America had given me. I found at the top of that list an education, and a sense of being someone through that education.

I questioned myself on what I could give back to this great country which has given me so much. The answer came from the very soul of my being. I would give her myself.

I felt as though I had been granted the secret of America's strength in just one afternoon walk. Her strength lies within her young. She gives them a home where they are free to be who and what they wish to be. She provides them with a public education and a sense of pride in themselves and their country.

In return, these children grow up to be soldiers to defend her, doctors to keep her well, builders to keep her strong.

As I entered my home, I quietly thanked those who had been strong enough, both mentally and physically, to build such a nation for their progeny to live, love, and learn in. I realized that being a citizen of this great country through my childhood has given me a sense of determination and strength.

Through the centuries, America will continue to nurture her young to be strong individuals in every sense. She does this with love and care as she realizes that her strength lies within her young.

Tec-Cor opens auto salvage center in Romulus

Tec-Cor, Inc. has opened its fourth automobile salvage center, located at 28701 Hildebrandt, Romulus.

Tec-Cor is the wholly owned subsidiary of Allstate Insurance Co. that handles the disposal of total-loss vehicles from Allstate and other insurance companies in Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania.

Tec-Cor salvage centers are located in Romulus, Carteret, N.J., and Wheeling and Markham, Ill.

He's joined teachers' force

Among the 21 Adrian College students who have temporarily joined the teaching force by becoming associate teachers through the education department is a Romulus resident.

The resident, James P. Thomas, is a senior majoring in physical education. James is the son of Robert and Virginia Thomas of Barth Rd.

He is presently teaching physical education in the Adrian schools (K-12). James is a 1979 graduate of Aquinas High School.

The new Romulus location will handle vehicles primarily from Michigan. Vehicles are sold by auction to licensed salvage dealers and automobile dealers.

In addition to auto salvage sales, Tec-Cor is involved in auto damage repair research and claim training programs for Allstate employees. Auctions are held in Romulus twice monthly with weekly sales scheduled to begin in March. Weekly auctions are held at the other salvage locations.

Gary Lisowski is manager of the Romulus facility. He may be contacted at (313) 946-6490.

Putting them in the driver's seat

By SUE BACHAND
ANP Staff Writer

Who is the largest single retailer of used cars?

That guy on late-night television with the cigar and the signs with his phone number? Nope. Ford?

General Motors? Chrysler? Wrong, wrong and wrong again.

It's Hertz. That's it. Hertz, the rent-a-car people. And they have been so successful because, according to Taylor Sales Manager Jim Bevins, "We offer the best deals in town, and our program is much better than buying a new car."

Bevins explained that the Taylor location has been operating for more than four years, and has provided used cars to hundreds of customers during that time. The secret to the success of the Hertz resale program is the sale of only top-quality cars in a fully restored condition.

Every car Hertz offers for sale has an official service maintenance file. This complete history of all service, repairs and tune-ups, kept in writing, is available for potential buyers, so they will know exactly what they are getting.

In addition, potential buyers are welcome to test drive the car for up to eight hours and Hertz salesmen pooped by outside professionals. The engine tune-ups are done by Hertz mechanics, however, Bevins explained.

Rental customers usually demand the newest in vehicles, the manager said, forcing Hertz to sell the used vehicles in order to satisfy this preference.

"We offer a 12-month unlimited mileage warranty that is good coast to coast," he said. There is no de-given the name of the nearest new car dealer where service could be obtained. The bills for any such repairs are forwarded to Hertz and paid by them, in full, Bevins said.

There is a two-year warranty of the same type available on the vehicles but it is optional, and requires a small customer fee.

The cars on the Taylor lot usually come from this area and have been used at the Metro Airport rental office. A few do come from Grand Rapids and Toledo, but they are local vehicles for the most part.

Prices on the vehicles will normally range from $400 to $800 less than the same vehicle on a used car lot or at a dealer, Bevins said.

"More and more people are looking to this as an alternative to the purchase of a new car. They are still suffering sticker shock syndrome, and this is something that people can more readily afford," Bevins said.

The popularity with the public of the Hertz plan is on the rise for just this reason, Bevins noted.

"Our program is so good, it really doesn't take a lot of effort to make it work," he added.

The dealership is located at 14625 Telegraph Road, one block north of Eureka in Taylor and is open from 9 a.m. until 9 p.m. Mondays and Thursdays. On Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Fridays, business hours are from 9 a.m. until 6 p.m.

Robert Mount, left, Jim Bevins, Ralph Szydlowski and Dennis Kelly are putting their sales expertise to use at Hertz in Taylor.

"We offer a 12-month unlimited mileage warranty that is good coast-to-coast. There is no deductible, no mileage limit and no charge for parts or labor with this guarantee."

—Jim Bevins, Hertz Manager

have no qualms about customers getting opinions from outside mechanics.

Bevins noted that only the top cars, previously used as rentals at the other end of the business, are ever offered for sale. "We retail only the nicer cars. The other cars are wholesaled. For instance, we never offer a car for sale that has sustained any major damage. No car that has had a $1,000 in damage is offered for retail sale, and no car that has had frame, fire or flood damage is ever here on a retail lot," he said.

All cars are completely reconditioned, Bevins said. Engines are steam-cleaned and interiors shamductible, no mileage limit and no charge for parts or labor with this guarantee, Bevins added.

All the cars are 1981 and 1982 models and of the 70 that are usually on the lot, most buyers will find a vehicle that suits them. There are compacts, medium and full size cars and presently some vans offered for sale, and include Chrysler, General Motors, Ford products and American Motors vehicles.

Bevins stressed the convenience of the warranty plan, noting that a customer could contact a toll-free number anywhere in the United States for repair of the car while under the guarantee, and would be

It's the VW Deflation Celebration.

After you make your best deal on these new '82s, Volkswagen of American will send you a check for:

$1,000 on Quantum
$ 645 on Pickup Diesel
$1,600 on Camper Diesel
$1,000 on Camper Gas

$1,200 on Scirocco
$1,000 on Rabbit Convertible
$ 525 on Rabbit Diesel

$1,200 on Vanagon Diesel
$1,000 on Vanagon Gas
$ 700 on Jetta Diesel
$ 500 on Jetta Gas

Apply your check to the down payment, and you'll have a sticker price so low it'll remind you of the good old days. And the cars will remind you that German engineering still sets the standard of automotive performance without compromise. Scirocco: dynamic aerodynamics. Quantum: performance perfected on the Autobahn. Vanagon: Car and Driver called it the Porsche 911 of vans. Rabbit Diesel: the best mileage car in America*. Jetta: the front-wheel drive German sports sedan. Pickup Diesel: built like a truck, but drives like something else. Rabbit Convertible: the ultimate in driving enjoyment. Camper: a modern home on wheels. One last reminder: You must take delivery by April 30th.

Nothing else is a Volkswagen
